By Karen Zarsadiaz-Ige, Public Information Officer II

On Tuesday, December 18, 2012, the Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health's (LACDMH) Downtown Mental Health Center (DMHC) hosted a Street Symphony holiday concert. It featured Gypsy Jazz Duo and was part of the Street Symphony's regular concert series based at DMHC.

Since the 2010 founding of the Street Symphony by Los Angeles Philharmonic violinist Robert Gupta, DMHC has been home base for the non-profit organization's concerts. The concerts bring classical music to underserved communities throughout Southern California, including veteran centers and correctional facilities.

This year's holiday concert featured the Jazz Gypsy Duo with violinist Luanne Homzy and guitarist Tommy Davy. After their performance, they also played music as part of a string trio with Street Symphony members Tao Ni (cello) and Zach Dellinger (viola).

"We love coming here to perform because we love the energy you give us," said Dellinger who is also the Community Programs Coordinator for the Street Symphony. He was instrumental in scheduling this year's holiday performance.
